

LITTLE CRY OF BRITISHER BADLY CUT UP IN 23 ROUNDS

REPUBLICANS SOUNDED BY HUGHES

Associated Press.
CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 5.—The formal defining of the issue of the national and state, at the opening of the republican campaign today, according to Governor Hughes will be a great demand outside his own state for the campaign. The governor only held the attention of the thousands who had been listening to other speakers for hours, but he was met with a roar of applause, and he fairly roared when he finished by saying who pressed forward to shake hands. His satirical comments on the ideas on regulating trusts and the sound of laughter.

Senator Beveridge and Hughes delivered impressive speeches dealing with national issues, while Governor Hughes re-emphasized, devoted himself to questions of import to Ohio. Both Hughes and Beveridge insisted that Hughes is a dreamer and a preacher, not an executive. Glowing tributes were paid to Hughes. Both speakers insisted on a revision of the tariff from a promise to a maximum and minimum. Arthur I. Voss was chairman of the meeting. Governor Hughes made the following:

The republican party makes appeal to public confidence as the most important political agency for conservation and progress. By virtue of its leadership and its efficient administration, as a safeguard of stability and of the prosperity which depends upon stability, and as an unyielding power for the correction of error. It stands in striking contrast to the record of vicissitudes and ineptitude presented by the chief opposing party. That opposing party professes a policy which is at once a monument and a guide-post. It memorializes failures and unsafe policies we are to forget, and it points the way to business uncertainty and to the insecurity of industry and trade.

When we hear sounded a strident cry to the defense of popular rights, we carefully to see who constitute a new patriotic army into whose ranks we are asked to turn over the reins of this great Nation. The popular watchwords "Shall the People Rule?" and the demand "Whether government shall remain a mere asset of favor-seeking corporations" are not impressive when uttered on the banners of Tammany Hall and of other essential allies. The opposing party cannot pass muster as one of defense or of salvation, if we may pause before we permit, despite its boast of fidelity, to reason our institutions.

No more than I desire to see administration purged of every selfish aim, to have fair and impartial laws faithfully executed, to get rid of every trace of special privilege at the expense of public interest, to liberate the land from unjust encroachments, to purify our electoral methods and to

ORGANIZATION OF LLANOS ORO PLANNED

(From Sunday's Daily)

A movement is on foot for the reorganization of the Llanos de Oro Mining and Milling Company and if present plans are carried out the plant will be sold to a new company to be known as the Llanos Consolidated Mining Company which will have mining property of acknowledged merit. To bring out the consummation of the above, special meeting of the stockholders of the Llanos de Oro has been called for Sept. 21st Tucson, where the details will be outlined by Epes Randall, the president of the company. The Llanos de Oro Mining and Milling Company is the company promoted by Mr. Randolph some time ago and its affairs are of special interest here for the reason that a number of citizens invested in the stock. The plant of the company was closed down some time ago when it was ascertained that could not be worked at a profit for the reason that the ground, which is a lode, did not produce the values expected. Since that time Mr. Randolph has been bending every energy to putting the affairs of the company on a better basis and it is expected that the reorganization plan will do this.

The proposition to be passed upon the stockholders will be the transfer of the mills, machinery, pipe lines, pumping plant and equipment of the company to a new corporation to be capitalized at $1,000,000, in consideration of $350,000 worth of the capital stock of such corporation, such corporation to be the owner of the mines now owned by the Reina del Oro Mining Company and the El Tiro Mine and the 20,000 acres of land appurtenant thereto owned by the Sonora Quartz Development Company, all of which properties are about one hundred and thirty miles from the United States border and situated in the state of Sonora, Mexico.

In the circular sent to Phoenix stockholders, the Reina mine is described as having been developed to the depth of 90 feet and shows 150,000 tons of ore looked out, and the El Tiro has also been developed and has 20,000 tons of ore looked out and owns 20,000 acres of land containing large quantities of coal suitable for fuel. The ore in the Reina will average, it is thought, over 7 per cent gold and is owned by W. B. Lewis and H. R. Chase.

men got in close, Attell on the defensive. Moran then shot a hard right to the jaw and the wily Hebrew went into a clinch. Moran backed away and got his left to the jaw, but Attell countered with a right and then a left to the stomach. Abe shot a left to the sore mouth and they mixed it. Moran landed his left several times over the kidneys and Abe landed twice on the body. It was a good even round.

ROUND 19.—Catching and sparring occupied a minute. Abe swung his right to the head and they clinched. Both seemed loath to take the aggressive. Finally Moran shot a left to the face but Abe raised the Briton's head a foot with a hard left uppercut to the jaw. Moran backed away and Abe shot two lefts to the stomach and a moment later his left went to the jaw. Closing in Abe peppered the Englishman's stomach with short arm rights and lefts. The bell rang with Abe having the advantage.

ROUND 20.—The men rushed to a clinch and indulged in facial work. Moran rushed in but Abe smoothed his efforts. Abe contended himself with blocking Moran's attempts and the pace slowed down almost to a cessation of hostilities. Abe caught Moran with a hard left to the jaw as the latter swung wildly with left and right to the stomach. Abe then sent his right to the stomach. The Briton retaliated as the bell clanged. Abe's round.

ROUND 21.—They went in close and were parted by the referee. Moran landed a right to the jaw with his open glove and put a left to the same place a moment later. A right again went to Abe's face, but Abe merely shook his head and continued to his gun. He missed left and Moran rushed in landing a hard blow over the kidney. Moran's started Abe's right eye bleeding slightly with a hard left punch to the member. Moran put two hard lefts to the jaw, shaking Abe up a bit. The men were fighting hard when the round closed, Moran having a lead to the round.

ROUND 22.—Moran came up the aggressor, Abe blocking. Abe shot a hard left to the jaw that nearly floored the Briton. Moran rushed in only to be met with a similar blow but with less force. The men clinched and wrestled along the ropes and then Moran drove a stiff right to the jaw. They wrestled along the ropes and then went to a close range rally in mid-ring, neither clinching. Moran in a furious rally pelted Abe viciously with left and right swings to the body but Abe straightened him up with a hard right uppercut to the jaw and as they emerged from close quarters each man put in a hard swing to the body. It was a hard, vicious, and even round.

ROUND 23.—"Moran-Attell" came in from all quarters as the men shook hands. Abe started the round with a light left to the stomach and they went to a clinch fighting and blocking. Moran swung his right to the jaw and followed with a left to the same place. Abe covering up. Moran on the aggressive shot a left to the face and they worked to a clinch. They wrestled to the ropes head against head. The referee called it a draw.

PRESCOTT WINS TUG OF WAR CONTEST

(From Tuesday's Daily)

Equal in excitement to the finish of the baseball game between the Phoenix All Stars and the Prescott Grays was the finale of the tug of war tournament on the baseball grounds in which six of Prescott's brawny firemen proved the superiority of the Jerome Giants and the best Fort Whipple team, winning the first prize of $300.

The Jerome Giants carried away second money of $125 and the third prize of $75 was divided between the two Fort Whipple teams by mutual agreement on account of a heavy downpour stopping the contest.

The Prescott firemen coached by E. G. Crow defeated Fort Whipple No. 1 team in one minute and nineteen seconds. The members of the winning team are Walter Feld, anchorman, Joe Massing, George Anderson, John Nelson, Robert Robbins and Eugene Engle. Fort Whipple No. 1 team, coached by Sergeant F. H. Trolley are A. Davenport, anchorman, Leo Hilgenborg, W. Sullivan, J. Pacnek, R. Poorman, and J. Barney.

Jerome's Giants, led by the choicest macearoni, cooked by an expert, under the direction of Captain Charles King and Frank Desolt, coach, then pulled Fort Whipple No. 2 team over the fifteen inch mark in three minutes and forty-five seconds. The brawny Jerome six are Joe Justina, anchorman; Joe Palo, Louis Lisoni, Martin Barsano, Maurice Barbia, and Ordino Pinazzo. The Fort Whipple No. 2 team, coached by Sergeant W. A. Wilson, are J. D. Wiley, anchorman, E. W. Bahman, Leslie Burnett, A. Axworthy, Peter Verhagen and J. T. Jones.

Admirers of the Fort Whipple No. 2 six insisted that their team had not been given a square deal in the pull and insisted on a second trial with the Giants. They were promptly overruled by the judges, who informed them that no deal game sport would ask for another trial under the circumstances after their team was fairly defeated according to the rules.

Hal Tomlinson captured the greased pig on the diamond after an exciting chase around the grounds in which over a hundred men and boys tried to capture the hog for the $5 prize.

HARRIMAN'S VACATION OVER.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—E. H. Harriman and party arrived in this city today from Pelican Lodge, Klamath Lake, Oregon.

'LITTLE PAT' THE PRIZE PIE EATER

(From Tuesday's Daily)

Surpassing in interest all other features of the juvenile sports of the day was the pie-eating contest in the band stand of the plaza in which thirty-one boys competed. James Farley (Little Pat), proved an easy victor over the others, devouring a half of one of Shumate's, including the crust, in less than ten seconds. John Davis, another schoolboy, with an epicurean palate, won the second prize. First money was $3 and second money $2. The boys devoured the pies with their hands tied behind their backs. They were loudly cheered during the contest by their fellow schoolmates and hundreds of men and women on the plaza.

Five teams entered for the boys' relay race around the plaza. Only three of the teams finished, the other two failing to make the run home. William Norris, Thomas Ross, Kenneth Beaton and Frank Moden were awarded the first prize of $8 and Arthur Gordon, John McKee, Ora Hall and Dan Sidell, the second prize of $5.

Dan Sidell was awarded the first prize of $3 in the fifty yards foot race for boys under 16, with Burt Blount a close second, receiving the $2 prize.

Another exciting feature was the girls' fifty yard foot race for the three prizes of $6, $4 and $2 respectively. Grace Sparks won after a hard struggle with Dorothy Day and Theresa Massing, second and third respectively. One of the athletic young lasses fell but was not injured.

The bicycle race around the plaza was won by Graham Billing with Burt Blount a close second. The prizes were $3 and $2.

The burro race around the plaza was the closing feature of the juvenile sports. As usual it was won by Jack Shull with Gerrold Cambridge, distanced. Young Shull was given $2.50 for his ride, this being the only prize awarded.

The most exciting event of the day on Montezuma street was the cowboys' relay race, won by Oscar Connell with Harry Henderson second. There were five entries. The contestants rode from the crossing of Gurley street along Montezuma to the Schuerman hotel and back, changing horses and riding the course over with a second horse. Jack Denike, the first to saddle his animal and start, was thrown by his mount in front of the D. Levy and Company establishment after he had ridden only 200 feet. His saddle cinch loosened and the horse unloaded the rider and saddle. Sterling Ellis looked like a sure winner until his second mount turned west on Goodwin street while leading his competitors south. Connell then easily took the lead and kept it, winning in the least time of 2 minutes and two seconds. The prizes were $50 to the winner and $25 to the second. Orville Bozarth came in a close third.

The flag picking contest was the tamerest affair of its kind ever seen here. The first prize was awarded to Sterling Ellis, who picked up four of the six flags on the 200 yard course in 21.35 seconds. Harry Henderson, who picked the six flags up in 27.45 seconds, was awarded second money. Henderson was disqualified for first money by reason of his horse not being on a gallop when the first flag was reached. The prizes were $20 and $10 respectively.

The men's relay race around the plaza, scheduled for last night, was postponed on account of the rain until this evening at 6:30 o'clock.

GREAT TUNNEL TO BE COMPLETED THIS WEEK

(From Tuesday's Daily)

By actual measurement Saturday night the 7,000 foot tunnel which taps the United Verde mines at Jerome from the Verde valley was within thirty-five feet of being finished. The tunnel is being run from both ends and Will L. Clark, general manager, stated here yesterday that connection of both openings will be made before the end of the present week. Better progress was made in running the tunnel than expected. When it was started less than a year ago, it was estimated that it would be completed in two years provided no unlooked for obstacles were encountered. The finishing of the opening this week makes its completion at least two and a half months earlier than expected.

The tunnel will tap the United Verde mines at a depth of 1,000 feet. It is seven feet by nine feet in the clear with a water conduit two feet deep by two feet wide in the bottom.

Only one track has been installed in its construction but later it is believed that several turnouts will be made to permit the running of a number of motor trains through it.

The tunnel will drain the mine above the 1,000 foot level and later may be made the main working tunnel, provided the smelting plant is moved from its present site over the mine to the vicinity of the Verde river.

ASCENDING BUCKET STOPS FALL TO CERTAIN DEATH

(From Sunday's Daily)

In the history of mining in the west, no more miraculous escape from instant death is known, than that of Curt Cornelison, who fell into the Pine Mountain shaft from the 400 foot level, Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, was caught on a water bucket and carried to the surface. Cornelison escaped with only a few cuts and bruises, although he fell nearly fifty feet before the water bucket, running at top speed, collided with him and carried him to the top.

His escape is considered miraculous, as he was carried through the incline shaft at lightning speed with his foot and one arm in the bucket and his body hanging down. The fact that his leg and one arm passed into the bucket between the double blades which are only a foot apart is also considered marvelous as the bucket was running at great speed when he struck it in his downward flight. The fact that his weight did not throw the bucket from its skids in the shaft, which is an incline of different angles, saved his life. The bucket passed over two rollers in its course after he became fastened to it.

Cornelison was in the 400 foot station repairing a pump shortly before the accident occurred. He came to the station on his way to the surface when he slipped and fell into the shaft, which is being unwatered by pumps and a water bucket attached to the hoist. His leg and arm dropping into the bucket between the blades saved his life.

He is a machinist and engineer by occupation, having in charge the machinery at the Pine Mountain mine for the Interstate Gold Company. Before coming here a year ago he was employed in the railroad shops at Spencer, North Carolina, where he worked twelve years, being considered one of the best mechanics in the service. He is a young man of magnificent build, standing six feet and two inches in his stockings. One of his legs was cut in dropping into the water bucket and his body was severely bruised in several places in his upward flight.

The attending physician does not fear any serious results from his injuries. He expects to be able to resume his duties at the mine in a few days.

POLLING PLACE REMOTE FROM VOTERS

CAMP STEAR, Sept. 5.—Work on the Arizona Power Company's project is progressing satisfactorily along the line on Fossil Creek at the present time. There is a large force of men employed on the flumes and ditches above Camp 4 on Fossil Creek and the temporary power plant is nearly completed. This is located about two miles above Camp Stear and will furnish power and air for all the tunnels now working. A gasoline engine is in operation at Lower One, the outlet tunnel, and the contractors are now able to work shifts on this end. A compressor is now being installed at Addit 1-2, and a small machine drill will be put in at once.

With the recent addition of the 200 head of mules to the teams now on the road, the company is hauling in supplies and material in quantities sufficient to keep the construction work moving along in good shape.

The Clemens Construction Company has started camp No. 2, where work is now progressing on the series of upper tunnels to be put through as soon as practicable.

In naming Childs as the place for holding the election, the Board of Supervisors must have been misinformed as to the location of the place or the camps, as some more centrally located camp should have been selected. Camp Childs is right at the Verde River and practically four-fifths of the men employed are all working at Camp Stear and above it. Camp Stears is where the reservoir will be built and is the main camp of the Clemens Construction Co., and will have more voters than any other one camp. It is to be hoped the board will investigate this matter and make a change in the polling places for the November election so that it will be more convenient for the voters along Fossil Creek.
